Market Commentary

The PSEI ended its 4-month streak and slipped 0.6% in March as foreigners were net sellers for the 1st time in 5 months amounting to Php2.6 billion.

All 3 US indices rallied by an average of 2.3% month-on-month for the 5th month in a row as the US Federal Reserve announced that is looking at 3 policy rate cuts for this year. Although, US Fed Chair Powell signaled that if inflation continues to remain "sticky", it is possible that rates will continue to be higher for much longer than expected.

The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) has six more opportunities to cut rates this year starting in the next meeting at the end of April.

On the domestic front, March CPI came out slightly lower than expected at 3.7% versus consensus expectation at 3.8% with core CPI, particularly in Metro Manila increasing slightly at 3.3% versus previous month's 3.2%. Nonetheless, core CPI declined at 3.4% versus 3.6% the previous month. This inflation figure is still in line, but on the upper end of the BSP's target range between 3.4% - 4.2%.

Market Outlook

While the overall economic outlook for the Philippines and the United States remains on the positive, inflation numbers continue to be sticky thus putting pressure on central banks to maintain policy rates higher for longer. The index is expected to remain volatile as headline data is expected to keep policy rate targets elevated for the near-term prompting investors to move towards safe haven assets in the face of inflationary pressure from supply concerns brought by escalating/ongoing geopolitical tensions abroad.

We recommend looking at companies with strong balance sheets and leading position/defense against impacts of issues abroad and cautiously accumulate on weakness.
